

UNPLANNED PREGNANCY

Is this always a problem?

_*_*_*_*_

ONE IN THE MARGINS

I am the one in the margins
Nameless. Faceless. Silenced.
Yet it is those of us on the fringe
Who give shape to things.
Hear my story
Feel my life
Reshape yours.

Ryan Bomberger

(Ryan was conceived as a result of rape)

How should society cope with pregnancies resulting from rape, underage relationships incest and extramarital affairs?

“Catherine Dickens was rarely not pregnant – she and Charles had 10 children. By the time she was onto her eighth pregnancy in 1849, she’d had enough – and used chloroform as an anaesthetic. This was controversial because in that day and age, most believed it was God’s intent that women should suffer pain in childbirth; chloroform wouldn’t really become acceptable until the 1850s when Queen Victoria started hitting it.”

Will Noble, – The Londonist

Are very large families a good thing?

How much choice should women have?